EXAM SKILLS FOCUS

In this topic you will:

- show that you understand the command word 'locate' and answer a 'locate' question
- show that you understand the assessment phrase 'how far do you agree' and answer a 'how far do you agree' question
- show that you understand what a good answer looks like.

The command word 'locate' means to indicate the position of a place, feature or entity from/in a resource. The resource could be a map, image or diagram. When locating the position of something, you must be as precise as possible.

The assessment phrase 'how far do you agree' requires you to make a judgement about whether you agree with something. 'How far do you agree' questions assess whether you can evaluate evidence, analyse information and form a balanced conclusion. The words 'how far' mean that you do not have to entirely agree or disagree, but instead you may agree or disagree to some extent. This command requires you to look in detail at a particular issue, considering both sides of the argument. This type of question will usually require an extended answer.

This topic will also consider what a good answer looks like. Knowing what a good answer looks like helps you to improve your own responses. Comparing your answers to example student responses allows you to see what you've done well and how you can make improvements.
